VOICE OF THE KNIGHTS

Volume 61 | Wartburg College, Waverly, Iowa, Saturday, Feb. 24, 1968 | Number 21

TicketSalesBeginMonday For Piano Pops Concert

Tickets for the March 11 Pops Concert will be on sale from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Wednesday in Neumann Chapel-auditorium, according to senior Art Alt.

Appearing in concert will be the duo-piano team of Ferrante and Teicher.

Reservations will be accepted but will be considered a sale. Individuals reserving tickets will be billed by Social Activities, according to Alt.

Students Are Urged

Students and faculty have been urged to purchase or reserve tickets during this time because of the great interest shown in the concert.

"For example, although promotion has not yet begun, over 200 requests have been received from persons in Waterloo, Cedar Falls and Waverly," said Alt.

Students and faculty purchasing or reserving tickets on Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday will receive first choice on all seats. With the presentation of an activity ticket, three price levels are available.

The most sought-after musical combination in show business today, Ferrante and Teicher have appeared on every major radio and television network programs including Ed Sullivan, Dean Martin, Gary Moore, Johnny Carson, Bell Telephone Hour, Danny Kaye and Hollywood Palace.

Both men were child prodigies who started picking out tunes on the piano at the age of two. They both registered at the Julliard School of Music when they were six. It was there that they met.

Enjoy Reputation

Less than eight years ago Ferrante and Teicher were enjoying a fine reputation, an impressionable box-office following and a meager income.

But with their recording theme from the movie "The Apartment" they hit it big. Although it was their twentieth album, it sold over six times their previous record sales combined!

Included among their recording hits are "The Apartment," "Tonight," "The Knack," "A Man and A Woman," "West Side Story," "Exodus" and "The Bible."

Albums will be available on each floor of the dorms for any students who want to hear their music, prior to the concert, according to Alt.

Dance Planned For Tonight

Leap Year dance, a boy-ask-girl affair, will be held tonight in Buhr Lounge of the Student Union from 9 to 11:30 p.m., according to Social Activities director Greg Schuchmann.

Sponsored by Hebron Hall, the "We Who Are" will provide the music. Door prizes will be given away. The game room will also be open during the dance, at no extra charge.

Friday, March 1, the movie "Walk Don't Run" will be shown in the Neumann Chapel - auditorium, beginning at 10 p.m.

Starring Cary Grant, Samantha Eggar and Jim Hutton, this color comedy concerns the attempts of a would-be cupid electronics expert to start a love affair between two young people who, because of the Olympic games, live in the same apartment in Tokyo.

Teletype Chosen As 1968 Project

Teletype for KWAR was voted to be this year's student body project in a student election held Monday, Feb. 19. The teletype will be rented.

Any additional funds will be used for other needed equipment, according to an Elections Commission report delivered by Senator Rich Ellis at last Tuesday's senate meeting.

There were 286 votes cast. Forty-one of these were spoiled.

Penny Theatre Is Under Way

Odd - Penny Theatre was initiated this week with the presentation of five different one-act plays. An average of three plays will be presented each week until the end of March, according to Richard Shaper, Drama Department.

The theatre, which is a project of the Speech Department, provides students with the opportunity to see significant plays directed by members of Speech 350, Play Production.

The next Odd-Penny Theatre production will be the "Last Word" on Sunday, Feb. 25, at the Coffee House. The play deals with the remaining minutes before extermination by bombs when a husband and wife, Rusty and Dusty Augenblich, confront the end of their existence.

The schedule of plays will be posted so that all Wartburgers will be kept informed of the coming attractions.

Freshman Ray Carlson performs in the Odd-Penny Theatre production of "Twenty-seven Wagons Full of Cotton."

The Agony Of Conflict . . .

"This semester the Den as well as the library will be closed during Thursday Venite service. The purpose of this move is to eliminate all other conflicts. . ."

Diers Says Racial Meeting Is Beneficial For Waverly

"Last weekend's open discussion here in Waverly was beneficial in that it gave a large number of people the opportunity to hear first-hand about the Negroes' problems," said Wartburg Chaplain Herman Diers.

The open discussion centered around the possibility of inviting Negro families to live in Waverly.

"Over five hundred people attended the event," said Diers, "a much larger turnout than had been expected."

He said that he thought, however, "because of the overwhelming attendance there was no opportunity for the face to face, person to person type of discussion. I hope this was compensated for by the small group discussions held after the large open discussion."

During the discussion, no opposition was voiced concerning Negroes living in Waverly. The disagreement occurred on the circumstances in which the Negroes would come.

Those who favored inviting the Negroes felt that the "open city" of Waverly should be known to the public. Those that opposed inviting the Negroes feared a large influx of Negroes.

They also did not favor the manner in which the announcement had been made. They believed that it had implied that Waverly had not always been an "open city."

In conclusion, Diers said "because of the open discussion, Waverly was forced to look at the Negroes' problems more closely, rather than as someone else's problems.

"I hope, however, that the discussion did not force a polarization of people's opinion because that would create a situation awkward for Negroes wanting to live in Waverly."

Band To Hold Band-Aid Follies

NEWS BUREAU--Wartburg College Concert Band will hold its annual Band-Aid Follies Feb. 29, March 1 and 2.

Curtain time each evening will be 8 p.m. in Neumann Chapel-auditorium. Tickets will be available at the box office.

Two soloists will be featured: Mrs. Earl Rogers, a former professional vocalist now living in Waterloo, and violinist Harold Motter of the Wartburg music faculty.

Also planned are performances by the Knight-liters, a 17-piece stage band; a German band; a barbershop quartet; a magician's act; a Dixieland band; a girls' chorus line, called the Band-Aid Follies Dollies; and several single acts.

Dr. Robert E. Lee, concert band director, will serve as master of ceremonies.

The variety show will have a supper club setting, said Dr. Lee.

Venite To Open Lenten Season

Venite for Thursday, Feb. 29, will be a Communion service using a contemporary liturgy written by Moe and Arthur.

The service will open the Lenten season. Communion meditation will be offered by the Rev. Wayne Stumme of First Lutheran Church in Waterloo.

Don't Overlook The Ads!

You're leafing through the weekly issue of the Trumpet, looking mainly at the things that catch your eye. Noticing a certain picture in the right - hand corner, you are attracted to it. Then you notice a large headline and you read the article beneath it.

Skimming down the page, you notice the alluring advertisement at the bottom. You look it over briefly, just in time to notice that a certain store downtown is offering a coupon worth 20% off on any item in the store. Thinking it probably isn't anything you're interested in anyway, you turn the page and continue skimming the paper.

Students Make Mistake

Too often students and faculty members make the mistake of thinking such bargains are misleading or not worth cashing in on. In truth, such offers are usually intended to be very worthwhile, and for a particular reason. The advertiser wants to find out how many people are really reading his ads, and he is willing to make a considerable sacrifice to find this out.

When response to such an ad is poor, the advertiser believes no one is reading his ads, which may not be the case. Instead, people aren't taking advantage of his offer.

Businessman Is Hesitant

The Waverly businessman, thinking his advertising dollar is being wasted, is thus hesitant about advertising in the Trumpet. Without good advertising support, a college newspaper cannot be maintained, and financial problems can cause a potentially excellent publication to become a mediocre one.

Fortunately, the Trumpet is not suffering to that extent. Not yet, anyway. However, problems in the area of advertising are not nonexistent. When Wartburg students and faculty members don't respond to attractive advertising offers in the Trumpet, Waverly businessmen begin to wonder.

So next time you notice a certain bargain in the paper, don't pass it over because you don't think it is worthwhile. That 20% coupon may be just the thing you've been looking for. And you'll be doing the Trumpet a big favor by proving that Trumpet advertisements are really read.

What kind of an age are we living in? According to anthropologists, if an imaginary graph were to be constructed of the growth of human knowledge, the bar representing everything man knew up to the steam age would be three inches high. A bar representing the gain in knowledge from steam engines to atomic bombs would be 15 inches high. But a third bar, representing the knowledge gained from the atomic age to the present, would have to be higher than the Washington Monument!

Our Mistake!

The Feb. 17 issue of the Trumpet contained an unsigned guest editorial, entitled "Wartburg Faces College Dilemma." Senior Pat Rundhaug should have been given credit for the article. The Trumpet regrets the error.

"A student entering Wartburg can look forward to an adventure in community, a liberating experience that will spur him to ask questions, to voice opinions, to extend his vision, to uncover meaning. . ."

Back Issues Of Trumpet Reveal Wartburg History

By MARTHA MOORE

Delving into back issues of the Trumpet has brought to light several momentous occasions in Wartburg history.

--Chaplain Herman Diers was Trumpet editor from 1946-47.

--In 1947 the school enrollment reached the astounding figure of 460.

--Also in 1947, Marjorie Moffet performed a solo drama presentation as a part of the Artist Series.

--In Dec. of '49, Paul Bruns (father of Paul Bruns the current) was named Athlete of the Month.

Epidemic Strikes

--An epidemic of the mumps struck in 1950.

--1951 brought Carl Sandburg to Wartburg.

--The Artist Series presented Charles Laughton in 1952.

--In 1953, men were given permission to ask the desk to ring for their dates rather than having to phone ahead and tell the girl to go downstairs. They were also allowed to wait for the girls in the lounges of the women's dorms.

--In 1954, Wartburg received accreditation from the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education.

--Arthur Fiedler and the Boston Pops Orchestra appeared here in 1957.

--Fred Jaspers (some Wartburg students and faculty members may remember him as former W. C. coach) was the February Sportsman of the Month in 1958.

Team Is Champ

--Wartburg's basketball team was Iowa Conference Champion in both 1955 and 1960.

--In 1960, the new face of the Neumann Chapel-auditorium was revealed.

--Jan Wegenast (now Mrs. Marvin Ott) was Wartburg's Homecoming Queen in 1962.

--Also in 1962 a $10 prize was offered for the naming of the new girls' dorm.

--And the best miracle of them all: in 1963 there really was snow for Snow Weekend.

Vienna Academy Performance Is Good, Falls Short Of Excellent

By MARTHA MOORE

Although the Vienna Academy Chorus has, indisputedly, some of the best-trained and finest voices among groups of its kind, the performance given at Thursday's Artist Series was somewhat short of excellent.

The 24 men and women who performed before a near-capacity audience in the Neumann Chapel-auditorium under the direction of Dr. Xaver Meyer, had chosen very difficult works to present.

Entirely capable of mastering such works, the singers, performing in the formal Viennese style, gave a concert that tended to drag or seem rather dull to the listener.

Seems Long

Because only a brief pause was intermitted between the most unvaried pieces, the Renaissance music, it all seemed to be one very long composition rather than three somewhat shorter ones.

Fortunately, the second half of the performance brought a change of music, and revealed the versatility of the singers. It began with the lively Nicolette (Ravel), and traveled through contemporary European choral music briskly.

Ronde (Ravel) was a very well synchronized collection of extremely difficult runs. The Six Chansons (Hindemith) revealed the ability of the chorus to change moods quickly.

Gives Smooth Feeling

Yver, Vous N'etes Qu'un Villain (Debussy) gave a smooth feeling of building as it moved from soloist to small group to larger group to whole throughout the song.

Catulli Carmina (Orff), a German representation of emotions of love, was very effective in that the singing was broken several times by spoken lines.

For many reasons, the encore was the best piece in the program. First of all, it was recognized immediately by the audience as a medley of Strauss waltzes.

One of the singers accompanied the group on the piano, giving it a fuller sound. The singers were more warmed to it; it was done naturally and joyfully, and the singers put much of themselves into it.

Singers Are Enthusiastic

The singers are enthusiastic, happy people. They offer, backstage, a good public relations for the countries they represent.

The Academy was founded 150 years ago; the Vienna Academy Chorus began in 1946. This is their seventh tour of the United States and Canada. Seventy concerts were scheduled for this tour, of which 40 are completed.

All of the singers are students or graduates of the Academy, although not all are Austrian. Two are Swiss, three German, one British, one American and one Greek. But all have studied in Vienna and know the Viennese style and interpretation.

Before coming to Wartburg, the Chorus performed in Istanbul, Singapore, Taipei, Manila, Bangkok, Hong Kong, Tokyo, Korea, Anchorage and Fairbanks (Alaska), Denver and Texas.

From here they will visit Ottawa, Chicago, New York and many smaller places in between.

Dr. Xaver Meyer, conductor, who is young and seems to generate warmth and interest, discussed some incidents which have occurred on this trip.

Chorus Sings Twice

The chorus sang two performances on Christmas Eve, in Korea, to a total of 7,000 people. Shortly after the New Year began, they crossed the time line back into the old year and got to celebrate New Year's Day all over again.

Seeing seals on chunks of ice was a new experience they enjoyed in Alaska. But the changes in temperature, Meyer said, in travelling from Alaska to Texas, were very hard on their voices.

"I could feel that the audience tonight was interested," Meyer commented. "We could tell that they had attended many concerts before.

"We play two different concerts in the United States. The one we played tonight was the more sophisticated one. The other program is lighter, and has more Strauss. This one is quite strenuous."

Hertz Speaks

Dr. Karl Hertz, professor of church and society at Wittenberg University in Springfield, Ohio, adresses the Wartburg student body on "The Politics of Genetics." Dr. Hertz spoke at last Monday's Convocation.

Fritschel Urges Early Order For Tyrone Guthrie Tickets

The Castle Singers' performance of the musical "What's the Meaning of This" will be produced in the Tyrone Guthrie Theatre in Minneapolis, Minn., on March 30 and 31.

The singers will perform the musical Saturday evening, Sunday afternoon and Sunday evening.

According to Dr. James Fritschel, Castle Singers' director, tickets must be ordered early.

"Within several days after the first announcement that tickets for the production were available, one-sixth of the tickets were sold, many of which went in large blocks of 25, 50 and 100," said Fritschel.

Anyone still interested in buying tickets for the performances may receive them by signing up in the Alumni Office, Luther 217, by Monday morning.

Anyone desiring transportation should check with Robert Gremmels, alumni director.

"If the need is great enough, perhaps a car pool or bus will be arranged," he said.

A limited supply of recordings of the musical are also still available.

Lecturer Visit On Thursday

Dr. Gilbert J. Perlow of the Department of Physics at Argonne National Laboratory, Argonne, Ill., will be a visiting lecturer here on Thursday, Feb. 29.

He will visit under the auspices of the American Association of Physics Teachers and the American Institute of Physics as part of a broad, nationwide program to stimulate interest in physics. The program is now in its 11th year and is supported by the National Science Foundation.

Lectures, informal discussions, assistance to faculty members with curriculum and research problems in physics and talks with students will be featured in Dr. Perlow's visit. William Azbell, chairman of the Department of Physics, is in charge of arrangements for the visit.

Knights Are IIAC Champions; Meet Westmar For NAIA Berth

By DAVE WESTPHAL

Wartburg won the Iowa Conference championship last night with an 83-51 victory over Dubuque. It marked the first time since 1960 that the Knights have captured the IIAC crown outright.

Last year Wartburg tied with Luther for the title.

With the commanding win over Dubuque, the Knights also won the right to represent the league in the NAIA District 15 play-offs against Westmar, which was voted the top independent team in the state.

Series Begins Friday

The best of three series will begin next Friday when Wartburg will meet Westmar at Waverly, and will continue at LeMars the following Monday. The third game, if required, will also be at Westmar the next night, Tuesday, March 5.

The winner of the play-offs will earn the right to go to the National NAIA Tournament at Kansas City, which begins Monday, March 11, and extends through the following Saturday.

The Knights, after a very cold start, lost to St. Mary's, 59-56, in first round action at Kansas City last year.

But Wartburg first has the job of getting by Westmar, whom the Knights edged in their first game of the year, 81-77 at LeMars. That game was won in the last 13 seconds on a lay-up by Jim Barkema and 2 free throws by John Hearn.

Has 19-5 Record

Westmar compiled a 19-5 record this year, and has some of the nations leaders in several departments.

Moeller, 6'10" center, is averaging 21 rebounds a game, and Stathman is one of the best free throw shooters in the nation.

Speaking of the up-coming play-offs, Knights' Coach "Buzz" Levick said, "The tournament schedule demands that we win that first game next Friday at home. We can't afford to lose the first one, and then have to win two in a row at Westmar."

Tonight the Knights entertain William Penn in a game which was made quite superfluous because of Wartburg's win over Dubuque.

Penn, going into last night's action, had the theoretical opportunity to tie for the conference crown, but that opportunity went down the drain with the Knights' convincing victory.

Last week Penn pulled off two upsets by licking Upper Iowa and Luther on successive nights.

Buenning Has 25

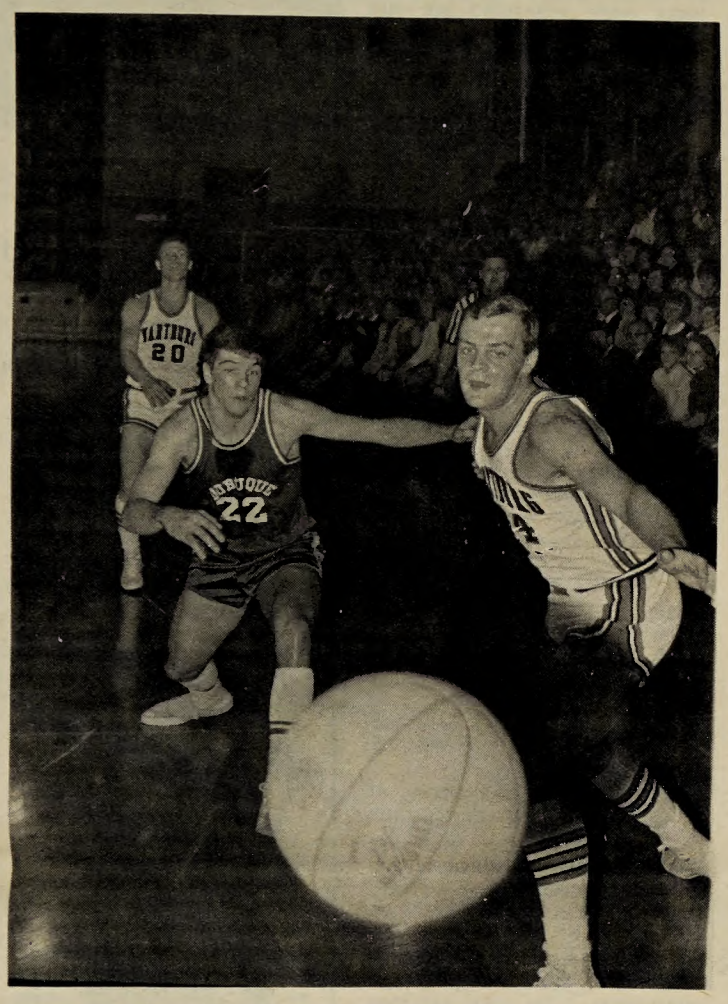
High scorers in last night's game were G. E. Buenning with 25, followed by John Hearn's 16 and 10 each by Tom Manchester and Jim Barkema.

Defense and rebounding were the big keys to Wartburg's win.

At the start of the second half the Knights limited the Spartans to only 6 points while Wartburg was scoring 30.

Wartburg's guard court held Dubuque's Finnegan to only 16 points, including 8 of 23 from the field.

On the board, Wartburg controlled 61 rebounds, while the Spartans got only 28. Hearn led with 13, and Cornelius and Buenning swept 12 and 11, respectively.



Senior forward John Hearn wears the confident smile of a winner as he lets a stray Dubuque pass go out of bounds. Knights won the game and cinched the IIAC championship with an easy 83-51 victory.

Branch -- Out On A Limb

Knights Nearly Beat Luther

By JIM KEIFER

Wartburg's wrestling team came awfully close to beating Luther last Wednesday, but couldn't quite do it. The meet went down to the final match, but the grapplers couldn't pull it out. Bob Madison, Mick Ketchum and Tom Turner all were impressive in gaining decisions against their men. Freshman Greg Slager tied the match at 14-14 with a pin over his opponent. But Dean Knight couldn't do anything against his man, and was defeated.

Keifer

Overall, I thought the wrestling team did a fine job. Freshman Paul Koob was wrestling at 30 pounds over his normal weight against one of the finest wrestlers in the conference. Paul was decisioned, but didn't let his man pin him, which was an accomplishment, considering the circumstances. The Iowa Conference meet is coming up next weekend at Dubuque. Let's hope the Knights can come up with some victories.

* * * * *

Two of the three major Iowa universities lost almost all hope of winning their conferences this week, these being Iowa State and Drake. Purdue put a damper on Iowa's hopes by beating them last Tuesday. Maybe Wartburg will be the only team to represent Iowa in post-season tournaments.

Wartburg received honorable mention in the N. A. I. A. ratings last week. Earlham College from my home town in Richmond, Ind., was ranked thirteenth. They are averaging 107 points per game. It would be quite a match to put their offense against our defense. Maybe they will meet in Kansas City.

* * * * *

Because of the usual boring weekends at Wartburg, and since basketball is just about over, a few friends of mine have come up with a possible way of entertaining ourselves. We have thought about starting to play different card games. Contact either Jim Barkema or me. Maybe we'll find there are four people at Wartburg who know how to play pinochle or bridge.

IIAC Run-Away Turns Into Dog-Fight

IIAC NEWS SERVICE--What started out as a run-away in the Iowa Conference basketball race has suddenly turned into a dog-fight.

A week ago, it appeared Wartburg College had the league title all wrapped up, but sixth-place Central pulled the upset of the year 66-60, and it isn't over yet.

Only William Penn has a chance to catch the Knights, and if the Statesmen can hang on until Saturday night, Waverly will be the scene of another championship clash when the two teams meet in their season finale.

A similar situation existed last year when the Knights were trying to catch Luther and did on the final day of the season.

Wartburg Has Tie Clinched

Wartburg, however, is already assured of a share of the crown and could wrap it up outright the night before when fourth-place Dubuque is at Waverly.

In order to stay alive, Penn must win at Buena Vista and the Spartans must upset the Knights. Anything else will make Saturday superfluous.

The Statesmen have won their last 10 in a row, and this is now the longest IIAC winning streak alive since Wartburg's was snapped by Central.

Miller Has Point Lead

Individual statistics this week have Upper Iowa's John Miller taking a commanding lead in the IIAC scoring race. He is averaging 24.6 points a game.

Luther's Dave Mueller has also moved ahead of teammate Alex Rowell, who led in point-making most of the winter. Mueller is averaging 22.0 and Rowell is 21.4.

Rowell is still on top in rebounding, but only by three. He has grabbed 168 (14.0 average) while Simpson's Rod Ritenour has 165 (13.7).

Ritenour has taken over the free throw percentage leadership, 87.7 percent, and Buena Vista's Arnold Johnson continues to be the most accurate from the field, 64.9 percent.

Luther (82.4 offensive average) and Wartburg (65.6 defensive average) remain in front in team statistics.

Grapplers Get 3rd In Tourney; Fall To Luther In Dual, 17-14

By DAVE EVANS

Wartburg Knights were edged by Luther in a dual meet in Knights Gymnasium Wednesday night by a score of 17-14, and last week the Knight grapplers compiled 54 points, which earned them a third place finish in the All-Lutheran wrestling tournament at Decorah.

Luther went into Wednesday night's dual meet with an 8-3 record, compared to Wartburg's 4-6. Ralph Schroeder and Joe Breitbach faced off at 123, in what was probably the best match of the night.

Breitbach got a takedown in the first period, but Schroeder came back with a reversal halfway through the third period. The match ended in a 2-2 tie, but Schroeder was awarded the decision with two points for riding time.

Madison Gets 2-0 Win

Bob Madison got a quick takedown against Chuck Gipp and tried for an early pin, but he had to settle for a 5-0 decision.

Mick Ketchum, who captured the 137-pound championship in the tournament at Luther, had an easy 6-0 win over Dean Gipp. Tom Turner increased Wartburg's lead to 9-3 with a 6-0 victory against Gary Barsness at 145 pounds.

Gary Neist, probably one of the best wrestlers in the conference, had no trouble with Howard Hunt as he threw the freshman in 1:47.

Randy Brekke put the Norse on top again with a hard-fought 6-2 win over Ken Biederman. Jim Nelson, the Knights' regular 167-pounder, was injured, so Coach Norm Johansen decided to take a gamble instead of forfeiting the match.

Paul Koob, who normally wrestles at 137 or 145, was put into the 167-pound class. No one in the gym thought he had a chance against Neal Skaar, the 167 championship and most valuable wrestler in the Lutheran tournament.

However, Koob did his job as he kept from getting pinned. Skaar's 10-0 decision gave the Norse a 14-9 lead.

Greg Slager went into his 177-pound match against Greg Brooks, knowing that he had to win. He had his troubles as he took Brooks down three times, but each time Brooks would get an escape.

Slager Gets Pin

However, Slager came through with a pin in 6:45.

With the score tied 14-14, the pressure was on the two heavyweights, Don Miller and Dean Knight. Miller got an early takedown and held on to win a close 2-1 decision.

In the Lutheran tournament only two points separated the third, fourth and fifth places. Wartburg had 55 points, Augsburg 54 and Gustavus 53.

Luther won the meet with 79 points, followed by Concordia's 73. St. Olaf and Augustana (S.D.) had 19 and 7 respectively.

Ketchum and Knight took individual titles, while Biederman was runner-up at 145. Messerly, Turner and Slager each took third places, and Madison captured a fourth.

Tom Turner picks up valuable riding time as he controls his opponent on the mat. Turner finished third in the All-Lutheran Tourney after winning a title last year.

Hearn, Bowman To Be Honored At Halftime Of Tonight's Game

NEWS BUREAU -- Special ceremonies honoring two seniors on Wartburg's only once-beaten basketball team have been planned for half-time of the Wartburg-William Penn game here Feb. 24.

It will be "John Hearn-Dennis Bowman Appreciation Night," and free admittance to the game is being offered residents of Clarion and Racine, Wis., hometowns of the two cagers.

Also scheduled that evening will be Wartburg's own "Parade of Champions."

1959-60 Conference championship teams have been invited to the campus for a reunion and will be introduced at half-time.

Those two clubs, coached by Ax Bundgaard, now athletic director at St. Olaf College in Northfield, Minn., set most of the records which are being broken by this season's team.

Are 4-Year Starters

Hearn and Bowman are both four-year starters for the Knights and have been instrumental in Wartburg's cage success the past two seasons.

Hearn, a 6-3 forward, owns the school scoring record with 1,425 career points, has the most free-throws of any Knight, 319, has attempted more free-throws, 514, and heading into the Friday and Saturday games at Central and Simpson, was only 10 rebounds short of John Tuecke's 982.

Bowman, a 6-1 guard, has started every game played since entering school here in 1964 and has tallied 818 points. According to Coach "Buzz" Levick, he has been a key to Wartburg's defense the past two seasons.

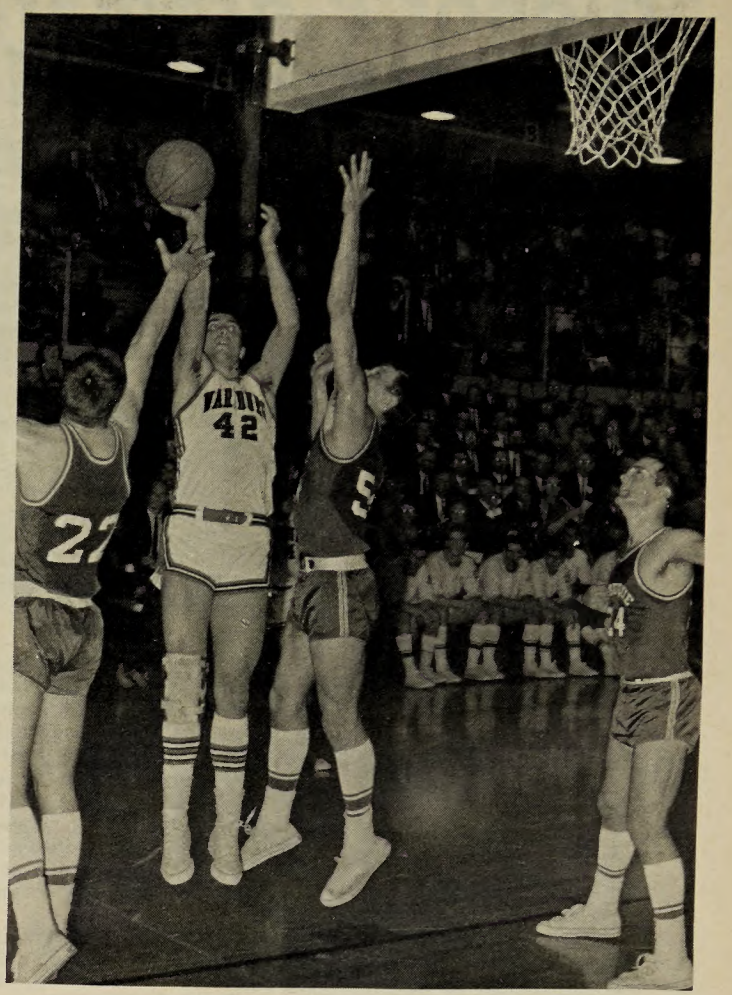
Two wins this weekend would give Wartburg the title outright and would send the school into its second consecutive NAIA playoff.

Levick To Give Awards

Levick will present awards to the two players Saturday night and will introduce the other two seniors on the squad, Dale Honeck, a guard from Marshalltown, and Merlyn Thorson, a forward from St. Ansgar.

In addition to the half-time introductions, an invitational dinner has been set up for the 1958-59, 1959-60 clubs.

John Tuecke, now a graduate student at the University of Nebraska, is also scheduled to make a special award to Hearn. It was Tuecke's record of 1,403 points which Hearn topped last week against Luther.



It was another two points for sophomore G. E. Buenning as he takes this jump shot against Dubuque.

Gamma, Off-Campus Meet For IM Crown

The intramural basketball season ended with Off-campus and Gamma winning their leagues with perfect 6-0 records.

Gamma won its final game by defeating Married Men by a score of 86-73. Paul Specht scored 29 points for the winners.

Off-campus 1 whipped Off-campus II by a score of 69-56. Jerry Heying had 24 points for the losers.

In other games Clinton beat Cotta I, 64-49. Randy Peters led the winners with 36 points. Terry Goetzinger scored 26 for Cotta.

The Faculty won two games by defeating Grossmann I, 91-52, and Clinton II North, 62-42. Marv Ott scored 57 points for the Faculty.

Clinton Ground South beat Grossmann II-B, 65-44. Gary Nielsen scored 21 points for the winners.

Alpha-Ketha defeated North Hall 1 by a score of 73-64. Bob Meyer tossed in 24 points for Alpha-Ketha.

3 Varsity Players Aid Frosh Squad

Coach John Kurtt drafted three varsity players to assist the freshmen in last weekend's basketball games at Central and Simpson.

Rich Mauer, John Scott and Ron Robbins contributed their talents to obtain a split in the two games. The Squires fell to Central, 76-86, but commanded Simpson, 101-75.

Central center, Hoogeem, took individual point honors Friday night with 26. Mauer was high for the Squires with 20. He was followed by Keith Lazar, with 19 points and 9 rebounds.

Paul Bruns had 14 before fouling out early in the second half. Scott scored 10.

A 29-38 disadvantage at halftime balanced the second half scoring to a 10-point deficit at the final buzzer.

Saturday was a better night for Wartburg at Simpson. The Squires were the victors by 26, 101-75. They out-scored the Redmen by 11 in the first half, 51-40, and by 15 the second half, 50-35.

The statistics speak for themselves. The Redmen took more shots than Wartburg, 92-82, but the Squires made more of them, 37-28. Wartburg also out-scored them at the free throw line 27-19.

Wartburg guard Rich Mauer was high for the night with 29 points and 12 rebounds. Center Jim Clapp was right behind with 26 points and 25 rebounds.

Twelve Lettermen Return To Support Track Squad

By LES GYLLSTROM

Wartburg's track squad has begun practice under the guidance of Coach Dave Olson in preparation for its first meet Feb. 28 against Central and the University of Northern Iowa.

Olson mentioned that it was too early to make any predictions, but said that the strength of the squad will again lie in the running events.

Olson expects "quality" performances in the 440, 880, mile and the two-mile. In the field events Olson expects good showings in the shot put, pole vault, high jump, long jump and discus.

"Our main concern will be to try to find depth in all events," said Olson. "Right now we do have the potential to be fairly well represented in all events."

Have 12 Lettermen

The Knights will boast 12 returning lettermen from last year's squad. Heading the list will be Wartburg's top distance runner Jon Thieman, who holds the school record for the mile (4:22) and the 880 (1:56.4).

The Albert City senior also paces the Knights' two-mile relay and spring medley teams.

Also back will be junior Rod Holt, Schofield, Wis., who holds the 440 record of 49.6.

In the shotput Paul Danielson will be the leading man, as he broke the school record last year with a toss of 49'10".

Other returning lettermen include junior Jim Sauerbrei of Waverly, junior Daryl Suntken of Belmond, junior Ed Long of Harlan, junior Terry Sexton of Carpentersville, Ill., and senior Randy Peters of Grundy Center.

Sophomore Lyle Wendland of Fredericksburg, junior Brian Koster of Sterling, Ill., junior Bob Ritson of Chicago and sophomore Dave Mohr of Davenport are also returning.

Cites Four Freshmen

Olson has tabbed four freshmen as boys to watch this year on the squad. They are Doug Beck of Sprague ville, who will be running the distance events, and Les Ashby of Frankfurt, Germany, who will run sprints, hurdles and participate in the high jump.

Also John Pearson of La Porte City, who will throw the shot and discus, and Loren Bechtum of Osage in the hurdles and middle distances will compete.

Looking at next week's first meet, Wartburg will be facing two tough opponents. Central was second in the conference meet last year, and U.N.I. won the title in its conference.

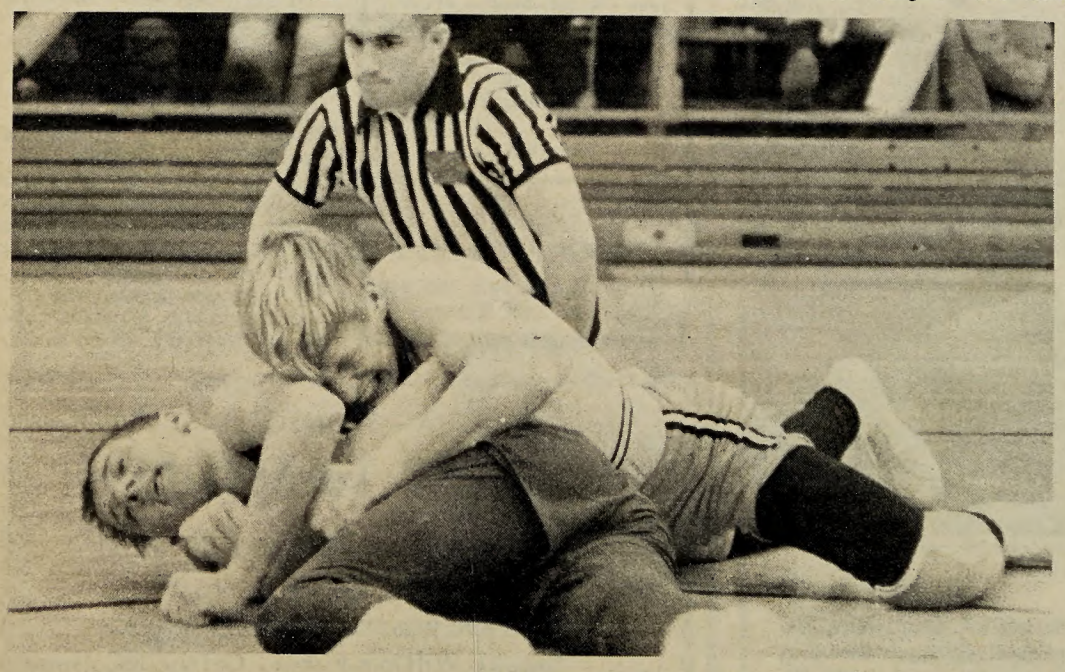
"I believe that U.N.I. will be the best track team we face all year," mentioned Olson.

Picks Luther To Repeat

Olson picked Luther to repeat as Conference champs, with Central and Wartburg giving chase. He also mentioned William Penn as a darkhorse.

Rounding out this year's souad are: senior Brad Arthur of Waukesha and Mark Buls of Tripoli; juniors Don Gipple of Columbus Junction and Ron Robbins of Clyde, Ohio; sophomores Dave Demro of Nashua, Dean Mohning of LeMars and Delbert Rost of Manson.

Freshmen Bruce Becker of Nashua, Paul Gammelin of Appeton, Wis., Butch Rindels of Grundy Center, Bill Seifert of Minonk, Ill., and Lyle Slotten of Barnam.



Mick Ketchum grimaces as he works to pin his opponent. Ketchum was a first-place winner in the All-Lutheran Tourney last week.

Student Placement Service Gives Needed Information

By STEVE SCHLARMANN

"The Placement Service is on campus for YOUR use and to assist you to seek the proper job and provide you information for this purpose."

This statement is from page one of the Placement Manual of Wartburg College. It sums up quite well the purpose of Wartburg's Placement Office.

"Placement refers to obtaining job positions. The services of this office are currently open to all Wartburg students who are interested in obtaining future employment, even freshmen," according to Placement Director Jack Schemmel.

Services Are Listed

The services available from this office, as listed in the Placement Manual, are these:

1. Provide a listing of job openings and employment opportunities.
2. Listings of employers that normally employ college graduates will be posted.
3. File your references or recommendations so that you can have them sent to a prospective employer when needed without delay.
4. Offer you vocational guidance and employment counseling.
5. Assist you in making contacts with interested employers through correspondence, interviews and visitations.
6. Arrange campus interviews for you with school and business representatives.

Papers Are Sent

7. Send your confidential papers to prospective employers. This is necessary for all teaching candidates and is becoming increasingly important for business and industry candidates.
8. Keeping on file and displaying literature describing job opportunities and career potentials offered by schools and business firms that recruit college graduates.
9. Help you to plan the ground work in getting the particular job you want.
10. Provide an occupational information library.

"The responsibility for getting a desired job still rests upon the applicant's own shoulders. Naturally, one should take full advantage of all the facilities at his or her disposal--and the Placement Service must certainly rank high on this list," said Schemmel.

Menster To Talk At Club Meeting

The Rev. William Menster will speak on the topic "The New Spirit--What's Happening?" to Chi Rho tomorrow afternoon in the Buhr Lounge of the Student Union, according to Chi Rho member Chris Fuller.

"The Schuebler Chorales" are six complete works and will cover the entire first half of the program.

A list of names was also released:

Student teachers will find many representatives interviewing as late as 5 p.m. if students are interested and able to stop in the Placement Office, according to Schemmel.

More information is currently available in the office on all the school systems which will visit and their respective communities.

Schemmel also urged all students who plan to graduate mid-year 1968-69 and who wish to interview now to confer with him.

Junior business administration and economics majors may also interview, but must see Schemmel first.

Senate Meeting Discusses Change In Convo Policy

At last Tuesday's senate meeting discussion was held on opinions expressed by some members of the Calendar Committee that convo be limited to one hour per week.

The objective of this measure would be to open four days of the week for class time at 10 o'clock and thus do away with late afternoon classes. Under this proposal, Venite would be held one hour per week at 11 o'clock.

In the senate's discussion on the matter, the disadvantages of such a system were listed. It was pointed out that one of the reasons for opening the hour to more than two days per week as it was in the past, was to get greater flexibility in scheduling programs..

It would also allow the convo committee to work with a freer hand to get better speakers. According to one senator we are already seeing the results.

It was also felt that many students did not mind late afternoon classes and that they rather enjoyed the free hour at 10 o'clock to study or relax.

After discussion, the senate passed unanimously a recommendation to the Calendar Committee to the effect that no changes in convo hours should occur.

An indefinite statement was also made to the effect that over half of next year's convos have already been scheduled and that to limit the hours per week would destroy much of what the convo committee has planned.

Convo Topic To Be 4-4-1

"Student Evaluation of the 4-4-1" will be the topic of Convocation on Tuesday, Feb. 27.

Carl Schmidt, chairman of the North Central Self Study Committee, will comment on findings of the committee. A presidential report will also be given by Dr. John W. Bachman.

Cheerers Get New Uniforms

New burnt orange cheerleading uniforms, worn for the first time last night, added color and attraction to Wartburg's basketball game with Dubuque.

According to sophomore cheerleader Sue McMullan, the uniforms were purchased through Social Activities from a company in Dallas, Tex.

The uniforms consist of an 8-pleated burnt orange wool skirt with white insets and a matching sweater. A white stripe encircles the sweater's V-neck while the letter is white with orange shadowing.

Since these sweaters are lighter than the Cheerleaders' other uniforms, they will be used the year around. However, because of their added warmth, the original white sweaters will be worn during the football season.

"The girls are all excited about wearing the new uniforms since their color and full skirts tend to lend themselves more to the spirit of the sport," said Miss McMullan.

"We only wish that the sweaters could have been here for the Snow Weekend games."

3 Debaters Earn 'Excellent' Rating

NEWS BUREAU--Three of four Wartburg College debaters earned "Excellent" ratings for their performances at the 24th annual Eau Claire, Wis., Speech Meet last Friday and Saturday.

The fourth, junior Carolyn Schnell of Waverly, missed that category by a single point.

Earning "Excellent" were senior Dennis LeClere of Cedar Rapids, freshman Ken Weitz of Dubuque and freshman Linda Klindworth of Goodhue, Minn.

All four are novice debaters, according to Mrs. Margaret Coddington, Wartburg debate coach.

Waiting For Letters, Packages Is Game For Wartburg Students

By MARTHA MOORE

One of the most important forms of amusement at Wartburg can be aptly titled "The Mailbox Game." Most students join sometime between 10 a.m. and 12 daily (except Sunday).

There are no set rules. The game begins when a student approaches his mailbox. His first action is to look through the glass window of the box.

If there is mail, he is on the offensive with satisfaction. If not, he plays defense with hard feelings for those who were blessed. His position changes from day to day, and no matter how depressing, he never gives up.

It is a joy to receive word from the outside world. The initial reaction to seeing mail in the box is reflected in comments overheard near the post office.

"Gee!"

"I've got to see if I got some mail--Oh! I do!"

"There's even something in there!"

"I see something! I see something!"

A sad case is the student who has carelessly neglected to bring his key.

"Do you think your key would fit into my mailbox?" one asked.

Students Are Skeptics

Some students are skeptics, even when they have mail.

"Probably the church bulletin a day early."

"Well, somebody came through for me. It's probably the bank."

"I got a whole letter."

The next step is to open the mailbox and find out what it is. Envy from all others goes to the students who receive three or more letters or something large.

"Did you get all that today?"

"I can't even get it out of my mailbox!"

"Are you kidding me?!"

"Oh! I got a package, too!"

An important process is reading return addresses.

"My mother, again."

"Another letter from Kent in the same week!"

"I got a letter from Ron."

"Minnesota??"

"My dad wrote me a letter!"

"I have a package. I know what it is. From Mom."

Some Read Letters

Some people even read the entire letter before leaving the mailbox vicinity. Sometimes they read them aloud to friends or predict the content.

"He says, "I'll try to come down tonight, but I'll call first."

"She's going to bawl me out and say, 'Why haven't you written me?' "

What about the other side of the coin, the luckless people with empty mailboxes?

Students Wait

Some will stand and wait to see if mail is still being sorted and distributed.

"Is it all out yet?"

"They're still putting it out. There's still hope."

A sad occurrance is seeing mail and finding it is not the box owner's.

"I think I better see whose this is--maybe they just got it in the wrong box."

Even harder to put up with is expecting a letter and not finding it there.

"I don't know what happened to it."

"What could have happened? He mailed it, didn't he?"

Frustration occurs when the student has gone to a lot of trouble to go after the mail only to find that there is none.

"All that work for my key and no letter!"

"Walk all the way over here and nothing!"

Mail Is Not Expected

Some people don't expect to find mail. They haven't seen mail in so long they've become skeptical.

"It's got to be empty."

"Well, smarty, you were right. No mail."

Others become indignant at the sight of the empty box.

"I didn't even get any mail!"

"I'll be darned!"

"Of all the nasty things!"

"Oh, hell!"

Some oft-mailless individuals use joking statements to camouflage upsets.

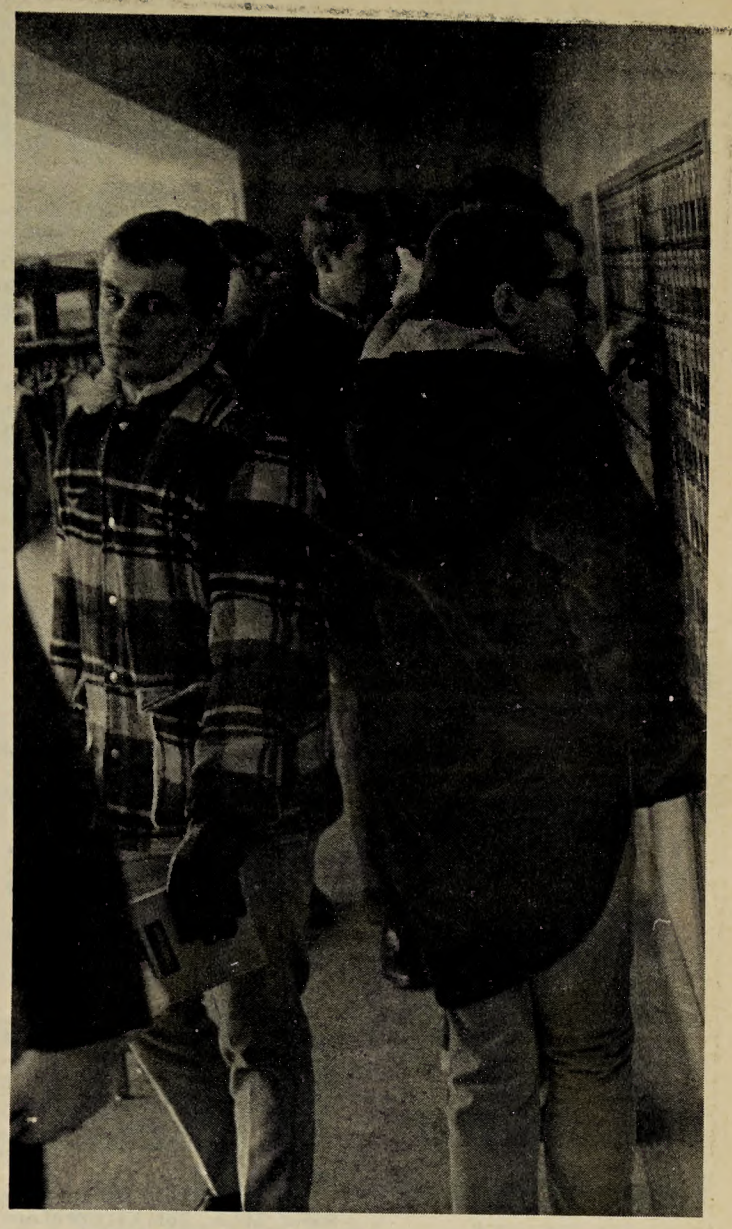
"I can't figure out why I spend my time here!"

"Have you ever seen a grown girl cry?"

What happens when haves meet have nots? Haves laugh, gloat, enjoy.

"You don't have to bend down and look. You can see from right here there's no mail in your box!"

And the have-nots remain silent, waiting for the tables to turn.



Getting mail is a favorite occupation of Wartburg students. Candid comments such as "You got all that?" and "Came all the way over here for nothing," can be overheard in the mailbox region of the Student Union daily during the dinner hour.
